MODELING THE EFFECTS OF ALTERNATIVE RURAL RESIDENTIAL PATTERNS ON VERTEBRATE BIODIVERSITY IN THE WILLAMETTE RIVER BASIN, OREGON
Modeling the effects of alternative rural residential patterns on vertebrate biodiversity in the Willamette River Basin, Oregon.

by

Susan G. Payne

Submitted in Partial Fulfillment of Degree of Masters of Landscape Architecture

University of Oregon
Eugene, OR.
Fall 2002

Committee:

David Hulse (Chair)

Bart Johnson

Rob Ribe